

Appropriation Sets Salary, Castle Says

Sends Reply to Request by State's Attorney

Opinion Is Answer To Inquiry on Pay Of County Clerk

State's Attorney Robert V. Wilson today said an opinion he had received from the attorney-general declared a county clerk cannot lawfully expend for salary, sums in excess of the amount appropriated for salary.

The opinion was in answer to a request made by Wilson following the July meeting of the Saline County Board of Supervisors. It was prompted by a county audit in May which said that at the end of the month County Clerk Don B. Garrison would have received approximately $9,700 in excess of the amount appropriated for him between 1952 and 1955.

At the June meeting, some members brought up the contention that besides the $9,700 excess, the office hire appropriation of Garrison's office also was more than the county board had appropriated.

Letter to Castle

Wilson's June letter to Latham Castle, attorney general of Illinois, pointed out that on a population basis, Saline county could pay its county clerk not less than $5,500 and not more than $7,500 a year according to law.

He also pointed out that the annual budget appropriation of the Saline County Board of Supervisors had appropriated a sum of $5,500 a year for the county clerk, and stated that the board had made no resolution or ordinance setting the salary.

Then Wilson asked this question of the attorney-general's office: "Is the appropriation ordinance tantamount to an ordinance or resolution setting salaries?"

He said in his letter that the audit indicated a sum in excess of the appropriation for the county clerk.

Reply to the Point

The answer from Latham Castle's office was to the point. It said that as the board had appropriated the sum of $5,500 a year for the salary of the county clerk, "It must be assumed that such action is tantamount to fixing the salary of the county clerk."

"Otherwise," the opinion continued, "the county clerk would, under a holding of the supreme court, have no salary and would not have been entitled to draw any compensation during the time he has occupied office."

"The county clerk cannot lawfully expend for salary, sums in excess of the amount appropriated."

State Supreme Court decisions were cited.

State's Attorney Wilson said today he still held to the belief he gave the board in July that the county should first sue Garrison and his bonding company in an effort to get back the excess over the salary, and if evidence in the civil suit warrants, the case should be taken before a circuit court grand jury. He said, too, that he could not file the civil suit without authority from the county board of supervisors.

No Grand Jury This Month

Howard Patterson of Tate township, chairman of the Saline County Board of Supervisors, said that he went to Wilson after the opinion was received regarding the salary payments to see about getting immediate grand jury action in the case. He said he was told that no grand jury could be called before next month.

Wilson told a Daily Register reporter today that he had the authority to ask a circuit judge to call a special grand jury, without getting approval from the county board or anybody else, but that all three judges in this circuit are on vacation during the month of August.

"There cannot be a call for a special grand jury unless the circuit court is in session," he continued. "Our next term is September, starting around Sept. 10, and that would be the time to give the grand jury the case. But I still believe that a civil suit to get the money due should be the first action."

Next meeting of the board of supervisors is Thursday, Aug. 16.

Egypt Mobilizes Medical Resources As Arab States Consolidate Support

CAIRO (AP)—The Egyptian Health Ministry cancelled leave for all doctors today and the Red Crescent Society & the Egyptian Red Cross—proclaimed a state of emergency throughout the organization.

The twin orders mobilizing Egypt's medical resources came shortly after President Gamal Abdel Nasser proclaimed the formation of a new "National Liberation Army."

The Health Ministry cancelled doctors' leaves, ordered the number of hospital beds doubled and told doctors in border areas to stand by.

The Red Crescent cancelled all leaves and announced its resources were being mobilized "to meet any eventuality." The society also appealed for medical supplies, blankets, foodstuffs and beds.

The Arab nations began consolidating their support of Nasser in the Suez crisis and all Egyptian newspapers printed Damascus reports that a general strike had been called there for Aug. 16 to coincide with start of the London Suez conference.

Tiny Yemen ordered full mobilization of its army and Libya was reported exercising pressure on Britain not to bring armored unit reinforcements to that country on Egypt's western borders.

London reports said Libya's action was the reason Britain suddenly postponed a big airlift of troops that was scheduled to start today.

In Damascus, Syrian Premier Sabri El Assali was reported to have warned U. S. Ambassador James Moose that the Arab states would not stand still if the West attempts to take the Suez Canal by force.

Dulles Emphasizes U. S. Banks On Peaceful Suez Settlement

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today that President Eisenhower feels strongly "about sharing responsibility with Congress particularly if there should be any risk of hostilities" over Suez.

Dulles said that is why Mr. Eisenhower called congressional leaders of both parties to a special White House conference Sunday on the canal crisis.

The secretary emphasized that the United States is banking on "a peaceful solution" to the Suez dispute. He added that "I do not see anything in the situation now which would suggest that a (special) congressional session would be required."

There had been published speculation that Congress might be called back if next Thursday's international Suez conference in London fails to produce a settlement of the violent controversy over Egypt's seizure of the waterway.

Dulles talked with newsmen shortly before taking off for New York to discuss Suez and other Middle Eastern questions with United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U. S. ambassador to the U. N.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon conferred on the Suez and other international affairs with President Eisenhower for about half an hour.

Meanwhile, authoritative sources said Britain, France and the United States have given to all countries accepting invitations to the Aug. 16 London meeting a tripartite proposal for international control of the canal.

They said the proposed deals with three principal phases of contemplated international operation. These are freedom of transit, method of collecting tolls, and maintenance of the waterways.

3 Bills Vetoed By Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has vetoed three bills including one that would have blocked an increase in rates charged by the Southwestern Power Administration to electric cooperatives and other public agencies.

Congress passed the power bill on the last day of its recent session. It would have prevented the rate increase until after July 1, 1957.

Mr. Eisenhower said in vetoing it Thursday that sound management requires that the federal government fix rates from federal projects which will return the taxpayers' investment, with interest, within a reasonable time.

He killed for the second time a bill which would have authorized Illinois and the Army to test the effect of increasing water diversion from Lake Michigan into the Illinois Waterway. He said further study of the plan is needed.

The third vetoed measure provided additional time for the validation of mining claims held by persons in New Mexico and Wyoming.

Program to Aid Small Business Recommended

Reduction in Basic Corporate Tax Is Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's small business advisory committee has recommended a program designed to aid small businesses. The program includes tax cuts.

The first recommendation and the one containing "the greatest punch," a White House official said, would reduce the basic corporate tax from 30 per cent to 20 per cent on net income under $25,000.

The tax rate on net income over that amount rate will drop to 25 per cent next April unless Congress extends the present law.

The committee said the tax cut and other suggested changes would have "very little impact" on the budget, costing about 600 million dollars the first year and some 740 million the second year.

Other taxation recommendations would permit business to depreciate used property purchases up to $50,000. Such tax deductions now are limited to new machinery, building and equipment. It was also recommended that small corporations with under 10 stockholders be allowed to be taxed as partnerships.

Other recommendations included:

"Favorable consideration" in determining profits by subcontractors, many of which are small concerns.

Extension of the life of the Small Business Administration beyond its present expiration date next June 30.

Enactment of legislation providing "closer federal scrutiny of mergers."

Amendment of the basic anti-trust law to make cease-and-desist orders of the Federal Trade Commission final, unless appealed to the courts, and to empower the attorney general to make demands for civil anti-trust investigations.

Simplification of wage reporting by employers for both social security and income tax withholding.

Mrs. Hodge Arrives to Testify; Ex-Auditor Fails to Appear

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Mrs. Margaret Hodge came to the Sangamon County courthouse today to appear before a grand jury investigating the million dollar scandal in her husband's office.

Hodge herself, meanwhile, failed to keep an appointment at which it was reported he would plead guilty to embezzlement of $637,000 in state money and ask for immediate sentencing.

Also on hand to appear before the grand jury were reputed downstate racketeers, Frank (Buster) Wortman and Elmer (Dutch) Dowling.

Mrs. Hodge, dressed in a blue dress and hat and wearing dark glasses, came into the courthouse unexpectedly on the arm of her attorney, Schaefer O'Neill.

She tried to duck reporters and said "Oh this is silly," when a photographer took her picture. Mrs. Hodge went into the state's attorney's office to await her appearance before the grand jury.

Hodge's attorneys earlier had announced they would not plead guilty today.

William A. Fuiten, a partner of Hodge's attorney, Arthur M. Fitzgerald, said "We were willing yesterday to plead Mr. Hodge guilty."

But, he said "We are not agreeable to entering a guilty plea and then having the sentencing delayed, as demanded by State's Atty. George P. Coutrakon."

Meanwhile, two reputed downstate state racketeers arrived at the Sangamon County courthouse for appearances before a grand jury investigating the Hodge scandal.

However, an attorney for the two, Frank (Buster) Wortman and Elmer (Dutch) Dowling, filed a motion in Circuit Court to quash subpoenas issued for Wortman and Dowling.

However Judge L. E. Wilhite dismissed the motions and Coutrakon immediately took Wortman upstairs to go before the grand jury. Wilhite accepted Coutrakon's argument that a subpoena is a criminal process. State police are prohibited only from serving civil processes.

Coutrakon said he wants a "stiff sentence" for Hodge, accused of conducting a million-dollar raid on the state treasury.

In Chicago Thursday, Hodge, his wife and his son pledged to turn over $520,000 worth of assets in partial restitution for his fraud.

Illinois Attorney General Latham Castle disclosed the offer of payment and commented that it would "pretty well clean Hodge out."

He said he expects the assets would include all those listed in Hodge's name, plus all those acquired by his wife and their son.

Castle said the only property likely to remain in the Hodge name is the family home in Granite City, which Hodge's wife inherited from her parents.

He said the state would get the plush hotel owned by Hodge at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Hodge's luxurious Lake Springfield home, where Hodge is now confined under the care of a psychiatrist.

Castle said the state probably also would acquire Hodge's herd of registered Angus cattle, a half-interest in a Missouri farm, and stocks, bonds and uncashed checks.

Fire Destroys Old Golconda Building

One of the oldest buildings in Golconda was gutted by fire Thursday morning. The F. W. Cook building, built by the F. W. Cook Co. of Evansville in the early 1800's, caught fire at about 7 a. m.

Firemen fought the blaze for about three hours before it was brought under control. The building, which was unoccupied, was a part of the Golconda riverfront section, and in a closely built-up part of town. Firemen were able to prevent the flames from spreading to other buildings.

The building had been used as a furniture auction barn until about three years ago. No cause for the fire was known but it started near the roof. All electrical and other utility service had been cut off from the empty structure.

Two Omaha Brothers Are Hurt in Crash

Two Omaha brothers were hurt Thursday morning when their truck ran off the road and hit a sign post at the Norris City viaduct.

Injured were Clinton Price, 24, and Herbert Price, 26. The younger brother was released from Ferrell hospital in Eldorado after treatment for a forehead cut. Herbert Price will be x-rayed for a shoulder injury today.

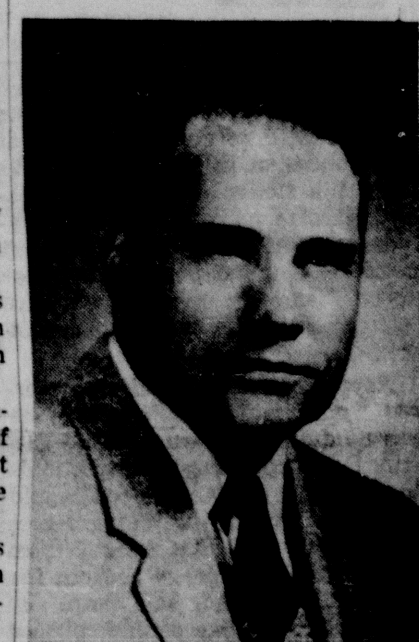

The boys' father, Luther Price, and the driver of another truck, Raymond Whybark, 36, of Crossville, were uninjured.

White County Sheriff Kenneth Cole said Whybark's truck was headed north on Ill. 45 and riding the centerline under the viaduct at Ill. 1 and 45 when the Price truck approached, headed south.

Clinton Price applied the brakes to avoid the northbound truck, but they failed and his truck hit a sign post. His brother, Herbert, was thrown off the back of the truck and onto the pavement.

Sheriff Cole said Whybark was driving in the center of the highway so a trailer loaded with a large tank would clear the viaduct.

They are: Harrisburg, Marion, Carbondale, Murphysboro, Herrin, Anna, Goreville, Metropolis, Vienna, Cairo, Jopps, Shawneetown and Cave-in-Rock.

Loy Barger, also a member of the local club, is a past lieutenant governor, and other members who have held the office are Bert Gramlich and Harry Reed, and the late Jacob W. Myers and the late W. W. Wheatley.

Begin Reconstruction Of Billman Road

Reconstruction of the Billman blacktop road from Eldorado south to Route 13 started today with Dale Denny of Anna the contractor, and engineers urged that motorists exercise caution when they drive on this road.

Denny will rebuild the base and resurface this motor fuel tax road, which was put in as a blacktop road about six years ago.

The road will be kept open during the entire period of construction, it was stated.

Wilson Says U. S. Armed Forces are Flexible Enough for Any Situation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson said today that America's armed forces are flexible enough to meet "whatever situation might arise" with whatever weapons are needed.

Against a background of rising Army concern that the nation is becoming too deeply committed to air-atomic strategy and slighting conventional forces, Wilson said "emphasis has been placed on weapons best calculated to deter aggression."

That was an obvious reference to air-atomic power. But the secretary asserted that "our nation is not committed to a single strategy." He said "flexibility has been retained to meet with the most appropriate weapons whatever situation might arise."

Wilson's comments were made in the Defense Department's report to President Eisenhower and Congress for the year which ended June 30, 1955. The Pentagon gave no explanation for the almost 14-month delay in issuing the 300-page report.

Reports for the six months period ending last Dec. 31, and the year ending last June 30 also are due.

Today's report contained forecasts of new military manpower cuts which would have sparked big controversies if made public a year ago at a time when the forces already had lopped off 367,000 men in the preceding 12 months. That new cuts are coming is common knowledge, just as is the report's forecast of higher defense spending in coming years.

Adlai Spends Half Hour with Ex-President

Harriman Arrives To Take Personal Charge of Campaign

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson and Gov. Averell Harriman vied today for the support of former President Truman.

Mr. Truman has promised to make an endorsement Saturday afternoon, which will have a great influence on the course of next week's Democratic National Convention.

Stevenson spent half an hour with Mr. Truman and left with no pledge of support for the presidential nomination. However, he indicated he had not asked for one and said they had talked about the party platform and convention rather than the nomination.

They were conferring at about the time that Harriman arrived by plane to take personal charge of his campaign. The New York governor expected to see Mr. Truman later in the day.

Two hours after his arrival, Harriman made clear at a news conference that he would pound on the civil rights issue in connection with the party platform. Civil Rights Battle

He said he favors a platform endorsement of "all recent Supreme Court decisions on civil rights." There is much controversy over whether the platform should explicitly endorse the high court's decision outlawing segregated schools.

Stevenson, the front-running candidate, has said he favors a plank giving "unequivocal approval" of the decision. But his convention supporters are working for compromise with the South, which wants no such provision in the platform.

Harriman also said he rejects "the counsel of moderation," which has been the theme of the Stevenson campaign.

He said the great issue of 1956 is "to restore United States prestige abroad which has suffered so under the Eisenhower-Dulles administration."

Mr. Truman was under heavy pressure from old political associates to throw his weight behind Harriman. Many of the early arriving delegates, however, believed he would endorse Stevenson because it would be difficult to stop the renomination of the former Illinois governor.

Stevenson spent 30 minutes this morning at Mr. Truman's hotel suite but said their discussion did not involve the nomination.

"We talked about the platform, we talked about the convention but we did not talk candidates," he said.

Harriman parried questions as to whether he expects Mr. Truman's support.

Skaggs Electric Low Bidder to Install Signal Lights

The Skaggs Electric Co. of Harrisburg has submitted the low bid to construct the signal lights at Main and Poplar streets.

Two bids were opened last night at a special meeting of the city council and the Skaggs bid was well under the other. The Skaggs bid was $8,400.10, compared with a big of $28,000.25 by the Maloney Electric Co. of Murphysboro.

Skaggs today said that bases and other stock items would be shipped within 30 days after the contract is signed and that completion of the order should be made in about 60 days.

GRADING WORK HAS STARTED near the Poor Farm crossing at Route 45 for a new garage and warehouse and material bins to be used by the maintenance department of the Illinois Division of Highways. The Oaks Construction Co. has the contract to do the job. In the background, where the automobile can be seen, will be constructed a concrete block building of 96 by 36 feet dimensions, most of it one story. To the left of this spot will be constructed concrete block storage bins of 90.8 by 30 feet dimensions. The state will keep equipment and material such as tile, gravel, sand and rock salt on these premises, which cover nearly three acres and which will be surrounded by six-foot cyclone fencing. Buildings such as this have been constructed at Anna (by the H. E. Mitchell Construction Co. of Harrisburg) and at Steelville, and others are being built in the state. Understanding The Truth

Editorial
BY KENNETH O. GILMORE
AMERICA still has a long way to go before the peoples of the world begin to understand and fully appreciate what makes our vast nation tick.

Although millions of dollars have been given out in foreign aid, most observers believe that we have failed to win solid friendships abroad.

It is not that the money was wasted, for it served the vital purpose of helping war-shattered nations get back on their economic feet. Rather, we have clearly been doing a poor public relations job on ourselves across the globe.
"To the educated European or Asian, capitalism represents mainly crisis, instability, unemployment, war and imperialism," said Prof. Massimo Salvadori at a lecture at the Foreign Service Institute in Washington.

"If Americans were better acquainted with the facts of their own economy and of other nations' economies, they would be in a better position to explain to the people around the world what the American system is and how it operates."

For this reason we present below some of the outstanding misconceptions abroad about American capitalism and the facts in each case, as stated by Professor Salvadori. President Eisenhower has commented that the material contains "some of the best ideas
I have seen on the subject."

First the misconceptions:
Our prosperity is not due to the capitalistic system but the natural resources of the U. S.

Our economic system is wasteful and inefficient.

Because the system is unstable,
the individual is insecure.

Fronting as a democracy, the U. S. is really a plutocracy where most of the wealth is in the hands of a few families.

HERE are the facts, according to Professor Salvadori: Natural resources are no more abundant in the U. S. than in Russia or in Western Europe and its far-flung dependencies. Prosperity results from the way in which resources are employed.

Capital in the U. S. is more efficiently handled than in the Soviet Union or in several of the industrial countries of Western Europe. Here the ratio in manufacturing is one desk worker to seven bench workers whereas in Russia it's one to four.

Depressions are a thing of the past unless there is a drastic change in government policies.
Small ups and downs may occur,
but we can control the dangerous effects of the laws of nature. The economy is flexible and there is solidarity.

The differences among main socio-economic groups are less in the U. S. than in any other country. The ratio of farmer's income to executive's is less than half what it is in Russia.

The Right Direction

It was cheerful, if not surprising, news that the federal government had a surplus of $1.75 billion in the year which ended June 30.
Better still was the word that the excess had been used to make a small reduction on the nation's huge public debt.

That debt has now been reduced to $272,750,000,000, still a whopping sum. Nevertheless it is nice to see it go down a trifle instead of constantly up. Debt reduction has seldom been in fashion since the early 1930's.

Prospects for another somewhat larger surplus are good for the present fiscal year. No doubt if it is big enough the lawmakers on Capitol Hill will translate it into some kind of tax reduction.
But it would be a pity if some of the extra revenue were not used once more to make perhaps a more substantial slice in the debt.

If it is not to be reduced when surpluses occur, when will it be?

Eisenhower Expected to Help Offset Effects of Hodge Scandal

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special)— President Eisenhower is counted on by some of the top brass in the Illinois GOP to eliminate much of the confusion in state party ranks over the Hodge scandal. They expect him to make one or more appearances in Illinois to bring about a rosier election outlook, increase morale and point up an intense campaign by Gov. William G. Stratton.

Republican State Chairman Morton Hollingsworth, Joliet, says he has no definite information on Eisenhower's appearance in Illinois but thought the President would speak in five or six cities across the country and that one of them would include Chicago because the convention was not held there and because it is the second biggest city in the country.

Stratton took the first step to bolster party rank and file. He went on television last week to relate the moves he, Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter, East
Moline, and Atty. Gen. Latham Castle, Sandwich, have taken to cleanse house. Stratton pointed to his prompt action in directing the Illinois Budgetary Commission to investigate Hodge and getting Hodge out of office and off the ticket.

Another step not appreciated at the time was Stratton's calling out the state police to stand guard night and day over records of the auditor's office to prevent their being stolen or destroyed. How important this is is shown in revelations showing that a number of files which are still being sought had been previously taken from the state house to Hodge's Lake Springfield home.

Meanwhile Carpenter and Castle with other candidates on the state "team" including State Sen.
Elbert Smith, Decatur, formerly known as a "Stevenson Republican" are supplementing Stratton's efforts, Castle by developing activities of his office in helping clean up the Hodge scandal, and Carpenter by stressing his administration of the Illinois driver license law.

Albert E. Jenner, Chicago, former president of the Illinois bar association, and special legal aide to the Illinois State Budgetary commission is probing the state auditor's office under former Auditor Orville E. Hodge, Granite City, was offered both the interim post of auditor and the party nomination after Hodge resigned and withdrew but he turned them down.

Jenner, said to have nearly a $5,000 a month income from his private law practice, was averse to a place on the state ticket but is believed agreeable to a job as solicitor general in the U. S. Department of Justice. John Ren-delman, legal counsel for the University of Southern Illinois at Carbondale, was picked by Jenner as his aide because he had been previously impressed by Rendelman's handling of a court suit.

Governor Stratton fears Illinois may set a new high record in automobile traffic fatalities unless the motorist eases up on the accelerator. He has warned Illinois motorists that "unless you slow down" they will pass all previous marks.
Although the total deaths for the first six months of this year is below last year's, the current monthly trend is higher than in 1953.

Illinois 1957 passenger automobile license plates will have a red background, with white numerals.
It will be the reverse on truck plates—a white background with red numerals. The decision to have red and white plates was decided several months ago. They were selected by Secretary of State Carpenter, in tribute to State Normal University, in its 100th year.

David F. Mallett, East St. Louis, incumbent clerk of the 4th District appellate court and currently the Democrat candidate for secretary of state, says he will launch what he calls a "positive automobile safety" campaign if he is elected.
He said he would call on war veterans to unite in working out a program to curb "This greatest killer of today."

Schools to Begin Sept. 4; Calendar For Term Issued

A calendar for the 1956-57 school year compiled by C. R. Gardner, county superintendent of schools, reveals that schools will open for classes Tuesday, Sept. 4.

The opening will be preceded by a meeting of rural teachers at 9
a. m. Friday, Aug. 31, at the Harrisburg Township high school.

First holiday for students, but not for teachers, will be Friday,
Oct. 5, when the Saline County
Teachers' Institute is held.

Thursday, Nov. 22, will be a legal holiday, as this is Thanksgiving, and there will be no school the following day. Armistice Day, Nov. 11, falls on Sunday this year.

Christmas vacation will begin with the dismissal of classes at the end of Friday, Dec. 21. School will reopen Wednesday, Jan. 2.

Lincoln's birthday, Feb. 12, will be a holiday and there will be no school Friday, Feb. 22—not because of Washington's birthday but because the spring institute is scheduled for that day.

There will be no school from Good Friday, April 19, until Tuesday, April 23, because of the Easter holiday.

There will be no classes Memorial Day, which is May 30, and May 31 will be the last day of school.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
The harvest of the earth is ripe.
Revelation 14:15.

Few periods of history have been characterized with so great interest in religion and the Good Life.

Butner-Towle Marriage Solemnized in Ceremony at First Presbyterian Church

Mr. and Mrs. H. Edwin Towle (Foster's Studio Photo)

In a lovely candlelight ceremony Sunday, August 5, at two o'clock in the afternoon, Miss Mary Elizabeth Butner, daughter of Mrs. A. J. Butner of Taylorville, became the bride of Edwin Criswell Towle, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Edwin Towle of 1230 South Jackson street.

Rev. William Burroughs performed the double ring service in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church which was decorated with emerald trees and two large standards of white gladioli. In the center of a large floral arrangement of white gladioli and asters on a pedestal vase was flanked by two golden candelabra containing six white burning tapers.

The bride wore a waltz length gown of imported white Italian lace fashioned with a full skirt and sweetheart neckline. She wore matching lace mitts and a tiara of white lace, pearls and sequins. She carried a cascade of orchids and stephanotis tied with blue ribbon and french nylon tulle.

Miss Mary Shannon Taylor was maid of honor wearing a pastel yellow waltz length gown of silk crystallette designed with a bouffant skirt. She wore a matching head band and carried a cascade of yellow daisy pom poms surrounded with white poms and tied with yellow satin ribbons.

Miss Ann Martin Funkhouser, bridesmaid, was dressed identically as the maid of honor and carried a matching bouquet.

David Brown of Carbondale, cousin of the bridegroom, served as best man, and Bob Ozment was usher.

Lorene Dorris, organist, accompanied Mrs. Elvie Gidcomb, soloist, who sang "The Lord's Prayer" while the couple knelt at the altar.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Butner chose a dress of gray silk crystallette and lace with pink accessories. Her flowers were pink sweetheart roses centered with a pink orchid.

Mrs. Towle was attired in a pink lace dress with cocoa brown accessories. She wore a beige orchid against a background of brown velvet.

Russia Demands Invitation to Other Nations

LONDON (AP)—Soviet diplomats said today Russia may boycott next week's Suez conference unless "many other" nations are invited. Egypt also is expected to boycott the meeting, and the absence of both Egypt and Russia would reduce materially any chance for its success.

The Russian diplomats gave an informal "clarification" of Thursday's Moscow declaration which said Russia is willing to attend the London talks—but which also demanded the invitation of 22 more nations, including Red China and the Arab states.

Truman Fires, Then Smothers Civil Rights Blaze in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Former President Truman alternately fed and smothered the civil rights fire today, first endorsing and then opposing denial of federal aid to states practicing racial discrimination.

On a morning walk with newsmen the former President described as "good" the theory, advocated by his civil rights commission in 1947, of withholding government aid to states failing to fall in line with federal policy against racial segregation.

Nearly four hours later — after conferences with labor leaders and Adlai E. Stevenson — the former President issued a statement saying he had been misunderstood. He said his views are the same as those he expressed recently when Congress was considering federal aid to schools.

At that time, he recalled, he opposed adoption of the so-called Powell amendment, under which aid funds would have been denied to schools practicing racial segregation in defiance of a Supreme Court ruling.

Meany Gives Warning
The former President's fast maneuver on the civil rights question was in line with a drive by party leaders to head off a civil rights split that could wreck the Democratic convention opening here Monday.

The party's Platform Committee meantime came to grips with the civil rights issue, hearing plans of a day-long parade of witnesses, many of them urging adoption of a strong civil rights plank and some demanding inclusion of a specific endorsement of the high courts 1954 ruling against school segregation.

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, warned the platform drafters that "labor will not be satisfied with 'wax words, glittering generalities, or the advertising man's club insincerity.'" He said the effort of individuals, groups and even states to thwart the court ruling "must not be permitted to go unchallenged."

Southern convention delegates were ready to accept, though reluctantly, civil rights endorsements of a general nature, provided only

Gov. Stratton Cuts Ribbon to Open State Fair; Hold Parade

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The 1956 Illinois State Fair, "largest and richest" in 104 years, opened today with a grand parade and a ribbon-cutting ceremony at the fairgrounds entrance.

Opening day, following tradition, was children's day.

Gov. William G. Stratton helped the youngsters open the fair by snipping the ribbon. His daughter, Diana, was official hostess for the day.

The fair will run 10 days and offer an all-time record high of $801,699 in premiums.

Both Parties Will Shun Health Issue, Eleanor Believes

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt predicted today that the question of President Eisenhower's health "probably will be carefully avoided" by both political parties in the coming election.

The 71-year-old former First Lady, who has attended political conventions "ever since I can remember," will address delegates to the Democratic convention in Chicago on Monday night.

"I would not really call it a speech," Mrs. Roosevelt said. "Four years ago she got a stirring ovation when she appeared to speak at the Democratic convention. 'I will say just a few words. Four years ago I spoke for the United Nations.'"

She felt health would be shunned by Democrats and Republicans alike in their campaign. Mrs. Roosevelt said in an interview, "because the people are more concerned about that than the political parties are."

Lightning Damages Lincoln's Tomb

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—State architects today estimated damage from lightning which struck Lincoln's Tomb in Oak Ridge Cemetery here at between $15,000 and $20,000.

The lightning struck the northeast side of the 117-foot high granite pillar of the tomb during a rainstorm Wednesday night.

The bolt showered fragments from the pillar over a 100-yard square area.

The State Division of Architecture and Engineering estimated the damage and said repairs would be started immediately.

The deck area outside the tomb was roped off for fear loose pieces of the pillar might fall on visitors.

'Too Extreme' Campaigning in 1954 Brought Dump-Nixon Drive: Stassen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harold E. Stassen said today that reports of Vice President Richard M. Nixon's "too extreme" campaigning in the 1954 congressional elections influenced him to start his campaign to deprive Nixon of renomination.

Stassen, on leave as President Eisenhower's disarmament adviser while he directs the "dump Nixon" drive, said he had been told that Nixon's campaigning "had not helped" Republicans because it was "of too extreme a nature."

The reports, he said, came from Eisenhower supporters who are worried about the effects of renominating Nixon for vice president.

Stassen said he had been forced "with a heavy heart" to recognize that Nixon's controversial position also would hurt Republicans in the forthcoming presidential election.

During the 1954 election campaign Nixon pressed the theme that Democrats were "soft on communism."

Stassen made the statement in an "open letter" to every delegate to the Republican National Convention and every GOP governor, senator, and congressman. He said he would send a copy of the letter to Nixon.

Nixon and former New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey held a behind-the-scenes meeting Thursday night in a hotel three blocks from the White House. Dewey said he and Nixon and others present "talked about a lot of things" including politics. He would not say whether they discussed the Stassen campaign.

Today, Nixon refused to go any further than Dewey had in describing the meeting.

Plenty of Zip at a pip of a price

(It's a great time to buy a Buick!)

SERIOUSLY—where else can you get so much snap and ginger at such a peach of a price?

Where else can you get a big, high-powered, steady-riding hardtop like this '56 Buick Riviera—at a figure that's pretty close to what they're asking for similar models of the well-known smaller cars?

Nowhere else that we know of—which is one big reason why Buick outsells all others cars in America except two of those smaller cars.

BUT RIGHT ALONG with low price is something else behind Buick's big success: Buick is a lot more automobile for the money.

It gives you more room and luxury—more zip and power thrill—fine handling and sure-footed stability.

And it gives you something you can get in no other car—today's advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflo.* It's the only transmission in the world with the cruising thrift and the switch-pitch safety-surge taken from the modern plane's propeller.

So WHY WAIT any longer—when the time to take action is now, so you can start enjoying all the golden months of summer and fall in a new '56 Buick?

Now—when Buick prices are as low as—perhaps lower than—they'll ever be again.

Now—when your present car is at its peak of worth—and when today's high volume '56 Buick sales permit us to make you an even better trade-in allowance.

Come see us—and look into the car that puts you years ahead right now.

Come see us today—and discover the dilly of a deal that will make you wonder why on earth you waited as long as you did.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Nothing takes to the road like a Chevy!

It has a solid, sure-footed way of going that makes driving safer and more pleasant on any road. And you feel a very special sense of security in its rapid-fire responsiveness to your touch on the wheel, brakes and accelerator.

You can see that the '56 Chevy is a standout for style. But until you have driven one you're missing the best part of the news—the fact that Chevrolet is the smoothest, solidest, most wedded-to-the-road automobile you ever bossed. Try it and see.

You get more car when you buy it... more dollars when you sell it! Chevy has the highest resale value of the leading low-priced models!

Ex-President Disproves His 1952 Prediction

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
SAN FRANCISCO — (NEA) — The convention chorused "No! No!" as the old man stood on the rostrum with the white lights beating down on his weathered face.

The scene was the Republican convention of 1952 and the man was Herbert Hoover. He had just predicted "This is likely to be the last time I shall attend your convention."

On Aug. 10 the former President is 82 and less than two weeks later he will prove his 1952 prediction incorrect by addressing the 1956 GOP convention at San Francisco's Cow Palace.

One statement of Mr. Hoover at the 1952 gathering has been born out in full measure: "I shall continue to fight for those principles which made the United States the greatest gift of God to freedom."

Here is a pre-birthday survey of Mr. Hoovers continuing service to his country and a peek into the living habits of a man who has defeated old age by indomitable activity and constructive thinking.

Not since the death of James Madison, at age 85, in 1836, has an ex-President lived so long, or been so active in public life. John Adams lived to be 90 and Thomas Jefferson lived to be 83.

Somewhere in the adoption of his rugged constitution to a strenuous regimen of important hard work plus fishing, walking and Canasta, the former President has found the secret of useful longevity.

Just recently he has been living at the Mark Hopkins Hotel here working as a trustee of Stanford University, his alma mater in nearby Palo Alto. He performs many tasks for the Hoover Library on War, Revolution and Peace, also at the Stanford campus.

But since the death of Mrs. Hoover in 1944 he has spent practically all of his time in his seven-room Waldorf Towers suite in New York.

Here is a typical daily schedule: He arises at eight, is brought coffee by Daniel, a full-time servant, and listens to news broadcasts.

He reads newspapers and listens to TV and radio newscasts all day, which accounts in part for his excellent grasp of domestic and foreign events.

At nine his three full-time secretaries begin their heavy chores and callers begin arriving.

About one-fourth of his time is now devoted to work with the Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report. This volunteer group is pushing adoption of the second Hoover Commission recommendations for improving the work of the federal government. While heading the Commission he spent 75 per cent of his time on that project, much of it in Washington.

Another book of his memoirs is under way, taking up much of his time. Galley proofs are spread in great confusion around his desk, in one corner of the living room facing a large oil painting of Mrs. Hoover.

Luxurious rugs, mostly gifts, cover the floor. Priceless pieces of art and china fill the rooms.

A large table is laden with books on innumerable subjects. Bits of paper stick out from all of them, marking his places.

Strange looking rough blocks of a ceramic material are scattered everywhere. They're strikers for the kitchen matches he uses to keep his pipe going.

Ivy Baker Priest To Receive SIU Women's Leader Award

CARBONDALE, Ill.—Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, treasurer of the United States, will be the first to receive a newly-established Southern Illinois Women's "Leader of the Year" award at a ceremony next spring at Southern Illinois University.

Mrs. Priest, whose signature appears on all U. S. currency, will be the guest of the Women's Club at its annual Women's Day program on April 25. She will receive both a plaque and a medallion.

Also to be honored is the woman who is selected as the 1957 "Illinois Mother of the Year."

The program, to which all southern Illinois women are invited, will include a luncheon and campus tours.

Vic Vet says

WORLD WAR II VETERANS HAVE UNTIL JULY 25, 1957 TO USE THEIR GI LOAN ENTITLEMENT AND KOREA CONFLICT VETERANS HAVE UNTIL JULY 31, 1965 TO USE THEIR ENTITLEMENT

Callers usually have some business dealing with Hoover's trusteeships of the Carnegie Institute, Huntington Library, American Children's Fund, Boys Clubs of America or the Belgian-American Educational Foundation.

Hoover never accepts purely honorary trusteeships. He works at them.

Most callers call him "chief." He greets them in good humor, usually with a humorous remark. Between callers, or during work breaks he'll play a fast game of solitaire for relaxation.

He has frequent guests for lunch or dinner. He watches his own diet carefully, favoring meat cold-plates or salads.

He'll wolf down his food in order to talk business or joke with guests. At a recent lunch he told the story of the woman who consulted a psychiatrist, seeking help for her brother who had imagined he was a chicken for the past several years.

"Why haven't you come to me sooner?" the psychiatrist asks. "Because I've needed the eggs," the woman replies.

Hoover loves to walk for exercise and has a pet theory about always taking a diagonal course across town. "In this way," he explains, "you never have to wait for a stop light."

For sheer entertainment the former President attends Brooklyn baseball games and will travel to any place in the U. S. to fish. While traveling, by both plane and train, Hoover plays Canasta almost continuously.

Sometime in September, if it's not too hot, he says, he'll return to his busy, useful life in New York.

DuQuoin is Awarded Hambletonian

DU QUOIN, Ill. — Residents of this quiet little coal mining community looked forward proudly and confidently today to playing hosts to the Hambletonian Stakes, harness racing's classic.

The town's population of 7,000 has talked about little else since the word was received Thursday that the Hambletonian Society had awarded the contract for the big race to the Du Quoin State Fair for two years.

The Hambletonian directors awarded the race to Du Quoin for 1958 and 1959 with the understanding it can be held there next year if the widow of the late Bill Cane, who brought the stakes to Goshen, N. Y., in 1930, is in agreement.

Don M. Hayes — credited with his brother, E. J. Hayes, with playing major roles in Du Quoin's rise in the harness world — said the choice of the town as the new home for the Hambletonian "is the greatest single thing" that has happened to it and the far downstate area.

Hayes said that it had been one of the "fondest dreams" of his father, William R. Hayes, a veteran racing figure, that the big classic would come to town one day.

He and others were confident that the town could play fully the new role as a result of its experience with 34 state fairs.

Mayor Renos C. Miller gave the official word he and his fellow townspeople would "try to be worthy hosts" to the thousands the Hambletonian will bring into the community.

The Hayes brothers and others have tried for 13 years to bring the classic to Du Quoin.

"So, the 13th year is our lucky one," he said.

He and his brother, during their years of hoping, decided to do something about some of the town's abandoned strip mines just in case.

They had the mines leveled and they now form the base for the 1,300-acre fair area, where the race will be the main feature for the next two years.

And the race will run on a mile-long track, which some have rated the fastest in the world. It has an infield moat which feeds water under the racing strip to keep it moist.

Braves Split with Cardinals As Dodgers Beat Pirates, Cincinnati Downs Cubs

By United Press
Taylor Phillips and Bob Trowbridge, whose names are as strange to the pennant race as if they had just stepped out of a space ship, were keeping the Milwaukee Braves in first place today at a time when their veteran heroes were faltering.

Phillips, a 23-year-old who shed his GI khaki for a baseball uniform this season, pitched a three-hitter in his first major league start Thursday night to beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-1. It was vital that he did because the Cardinals won the second game, 5-1, by belaboring Gene Conley. The previous night it was young Trowbridge who came to the rescue by beating the Cards with a six-hitter after which Lew (Best Bet) Burdette, another trusty veteran, also suffered a defeat.

The victory was extra sweet for Phillips because he was a private in the same company where Cardinal pitcher Vinegar Bend Mizell was his sergeant and "Well, we weren't exactly buddies." He would have preferred beating Mizell instead of Murry Dickson, but was happy to settle for his performance wherein he struck out six Redbirds. Stan Musial banged home three runs to give Tom Poholsky an eight-hit second game triumph.

Dodgers Blast Pirates
The Dodgers moved within a game and a half of the top by defeating Pittsburgh 7-3 on a 13-hit job in which they also made use of three Pirate errors. Junior Gilliam made four hits, two of them doubles. Earl Erskine failed in quest of his ninth straight triumph but reliever Ed Roebuck gained it instead.

Cincinnati chugged to within two games of the top by defeating the Cubs, 5-3, in 10 innings on Gus Bell's 22nd homer and his third in four games. Ted Kluszewski tied it up at 3-3 with his 27th homer with a man on in the eighth. Brooks Lawrence won his 16th game in a relief role.

The Giants ended the six-game Philadelphia winning streak with a 5-2 victory in which Jackie Brandt propelled two homers. Willie Mays and Bill White also homered for the Giants. Andy Seminick hit a two-run homer for the Phils.

Mickey Mantle went 11 games ahead of Babe Ruth's home run pace with his 39th homer in a 15-7 Yankee triumph at Washington in which Hank Bauer banged four hits and Billy Martin, Bill Skowron and Andy Carey had three each.

The Red Sox took over second place with a 3-1 triumph over the Orioles in which Frank Sullivan pitched a six-hitter and Jimmy Piersall delivered the marginal runs with a two-run single. Ted Williams got two hits and was well behaved all the way.

Sherman Lollar again sparked the White Sox by driving in two runs and scoring a pair himself in a 9-2 triumph over Cleveland that dropped the Indians to third place.

Kansas City, given a lift on Gus Zernial's three run first inning homer, went on to defeat Detroit, 5-3 and end a six-game losing streak as Art Ditmar hurled 6 1-3 scoreless relief innings for the triumph.

Jackson's, Dairy Brand, Walker's Win Kiwanis Tilts

By David Nelson

Jackson's downed Sugar Creek, 13-4; Walker's walked away from the Reds, 18-8, and Dairy Brand defeated Social Brethren, 11-7, in Kiwanis league play Thursday at the VFW park.

Craver pitched a three hitter and picked up two hits himself to lead Jackson's to a 13-4 victory over Sugar Creek. Jackson's had only seven base hits but capitalized on seven errors and five walks to win. For the winners at the plate Guiley and Cramer had two hits each and Johnson, C. Woleson and D. Woleson hit safely once. Wilson, Karnes and Hopkins had the only hits for the losers. Karnes was the losing pitcher.

Walker's drew 15 bases on balls which they coupled with six base hits to beat the Reds, 18-8. Cannon pitched for the winners, giving up eight runs on five hits, and four free passes while striking out nine. Potter led the winners' attack with two singles and Spratt, Hickey, Cannon and Wiley hit safely once. Pool had two hits and Bowman, Vinson and Maynard had one each for the Reds. Hansen was the losing pitcher.

Dairy Brand scored five runs in a big first inning as it led all the way in defeating Social Brethren, 11-7. Boyett was on the mound for the winners, giving up seven hits and three walks while striking out five. Agin and Hag-an combined in the pitching chores for Social Brethren giving up eight hits and 13 free passes while fanning 11. Roberson and Boyett paced the winners at bat with two safe blows each. Stricklin homered and singled, Agin tripled and singled, Asbell singled twice and Carnett hit a long home run for the losers.

Lambeau's Pro Coaching Touch Makes All-Stars Authentic Test for Graham-less Browns Tonight

By JIMMY BRESLIN
NEA Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO — (NEA) — It is easy to understand why this year's All-Star squad has been given the highest regard of any group in the past several years in which the best from the colleges have squared off with the professional league champions at Soldier Field.

The talent isn't the only answer. There have been other All-Star teams which have had players comparable to Howard Cassidy and Earl Morrall and the rest of this year's club which takes on the Cleveland Browns tonight with the usual 90,000 plus in attendance.

The answer can be seen in the way Curley Lambeau, running his second All-Star camp, handles matters. You can't reach Coach Curley on the telephone through out most of the day. He's too busy putting his 50-man squad through heavy workouts at Northwestern University in Evanston.

Lambeau, the old Green Bay coach, poured over lists of college stars, figured out the players he wanted to contact.

It was this way last year too, when his Ralph Guglielmi-led team defeated the Browns, 30-27, in an effort which erased most of the bad impressions left by the Detroit Lions' 31-6 smacker of the Stars the year before.

When the Lions took the Stars apart in 1954, the end of the Star game seemed near. Each year, the top college coaches in the nation were assigned to the Stars. But they had taken it as a lark.

So Lambeau and a pro staff was inserted. They ran the team as if it were a pro unit last season and it showed in the results.

It is the same story this year. With Don Kindt, Hampton Pool and Tony Canadeo on his staff, Lambeau and his club leave the impression that they will make a considerably better than decent showing against the Browns.

Morrall, the Michigan Stater, probably will be the starting quarterback. Navy's George Welsh is behind him.

For runners, there are Cassidy, the Ohio State and NEA All-America who will report to the Detroit Lions after the game; Don Schaefer, Notre Dame's ground-eating fullback; Lenny Moore of Penn State and Jack Losch, the Miami of Coral Gables halfback who has been the talk of the camp.

Up front, Hal Burnine of Missouri, Ron Beagle of Navy, another NEA All-America, and Army's Don Hollender, at his proper position, will handle pass catching duties.

Bob Skoronski of Indiana, a bulky tackle, has made the best line showing in the Stars' camp so far. With him are such as Tackle Sam Huff of West Virginia

Olympic games were the site of Trotter antics.

Rollins has been referred to as "The Big Cat," "Rube," "Catfish" — but when he gets back to these parts for a rest between the foreign tour and the start of practice for the winter season he can be truthfully referred to as "World Traveller" and best of all, Harlem Globe Trotter.

Paducah Colored Team to Play Legion Saturday Night

The Paducah Sportsmen, colored baseball club, will play the Harrisburg Legion baseball team Saturday night at the VFW park.

Paducah has an outstanding club with Big Bob Burke, their pitcher, one of the best colored hurlers in Western Kentucky.

H. S. Schofield, manager of the Paducah club, stated today that if possible he will have "Kid Showboat" Patterson catching. "Showboat" is no newcomer to local fans as he has caught several games here back during the Woods and Sauer era. He is said to be over 50 years old and can catch from many different positions.

Game time is 8 p. m. and everyone is invited out to see this encounter.

The Blonde Cried

MURDER

By Brett Halliday

Copyright 1956 by Brett Halliday. Distributed by NEA Service.

THE STORY: A frightened woman reported at the Hibiscus Hotel that her murdered brother's body was in room 316. An investigation disclosed no frightened woman and no body. Meanwhile at Mike Shayne's quarters in another hotel Bert Paulson appears seeking his sister Nellie, who he believes has retained Shayne. Nellie also disappears. Paulson returns to the Hibiscus and is invited to have a chat with the hotel detective.

XV

They had no proof whatsoever that it had been Nellie Paulson who made the phone call from 360. Indeed, there was evidence that she could not have made it, for Dick thought he recalled seeing her go out some time previous to the call, and she hadn't shown up in the hotel since it happened.

So he said placatingly, "The way it looks then is that someone else was trying to play a joke on her. Calling downstairs to say there was a dead man in her room."

Paulson's face expressed complete surprise. "A dead man in Nellie's room?" he gasped as though this were the first he'd heard of such a thing. "When? Who was he?"

Patton waved a fat hand. "There wasn't anybody as a matter of fact. I checked right away, of course, and that's why I say it must have been a joke of some sort. But we got to check every angle of a thing like that. That's why I asked what sort of girl your sister is. Whether she's the type to pull a practical joke."

Paulson shook his head decidedly. "She isn't." He paused, looking away from Patton and seeming to nerve himself to speak further. "On the other hand I—now that you've brought it up, maybe you'll tell me something. I don't suppose it has anything to do with what happened here tonight," he went on hastily, "but I'm afraid she has been running sort of wild and getting mixed up with some queer characters recently. At home, that is. In Jacksonville. So maybe you could tell me something about how she's been conducting herself here."

Patton hesitated, rubbing the third fold of fat beneath his chin and studying Paulson speculatively. "It isn't the sort of information we're supposed to hand out about our guests. This ain't the F.B.I., you know. We don't keep any dossier on our guests."

"I know that," said Paulson impatiently, "but I also know something about the way hotels are run. The bell-boys and the maids and the clerk. They always know pretty well what's going on." He smiled winningly at Patton. "You're the house detective, aren't you? Don't tell me you didn't ask around and check up on my sister's conduct during the past two weeks when this thing happened tonight."

Patton clasped his hands together in front of his paunch and looked down at them seriously. "I wouldn't say I didn't. But it still isn't the kind of information we give out."

Paulson grimaced and got out his wallet. He half withdrew a ten and glanced covertly at Patton, then sighed and made it a twenty instead. He folded the bill lengthwise four times and said, "I wouldn't expect you to give it out to anyone except her brother. But I certainly have a perfect right to know. I tell you I've been worried about the way she's been acting—and now with this thing to-night—and her not being here to meet me as she promised—"

Patton unclasped his hands from in front of his paunch, and the bill was whisked out of sight. He said, "Sure. Being her brother and all, it wouldn't be right not to tell you."

"Well, your sister has been mighty pleasant and quiet in the hotel, and minds her own business. I did go over the room service charges on her bill tonight, and most nights she's had ice and some times soda up. A bottle of whiskey twice in two weeks." He spread out his hand. "No, I'm not denying the bellboys and maids, like you say, notice things that go on. The way I get it, your sister has entertained, but never too late. And never no commotion or trouble at all. Just the sort of thing any nice, attractive girl in a hotel in Miami on her own might be expected to do."

He nodded benignly at Paulson. "Mostly one particular fellow, the way I get it. But she minds her own business, and so do they. She paid up her first week's bill promptly and we haven't any complaints at all. That the sort of stuff you wanted to know?"

Paulson wet his lips and nodded. "Exactly. Thanks, Mr. Patton." He arose. "And now is it all right for me to go up to her room to wait?"

Patton arose with him. "Sure. I'll go up and let you in myself. Give me a chance to check around a little more to be plumb certain she hasn't got any bodies concealed. That's strictly against the rules, you know." He winked jovially at his own joke. "And then I reckon I might just as well wait there with you."

Paulson stopped abruptly in mid-stride. "It's getting so late maybe I'd better get my baggage and check into a room of my own. Take me half an hour perhaps. I had a little accident outside of town and had to leave my car at a garage. If Nellie comes in before I get back, tell her to stay put, will you?"

"Sure."

Close Races Boom Attendance in National League

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — That breathless National League flag jag as contrasted with last year's Brooklyn cake-walk to the pennant has resulted in a total attendance increase of 653,393 to date with the best weeks yet to come.

Dave Grote, director of the National League Service Bureau has compiled figures to show that six clubs should go over the million mark in turnstile turnover this year for the best overall showing since 1949.

The increase over last year when the Brooklyn runaway killed the gate in some sectors is 12.7 per cent up to now, Grote said. As usual, the Milwaukee Braves are in front, having already passed the million mark, despite a rash of early season postponements which forced them to schedule several doubleheaders. The Braves who can count on close to capacity for single games are running only 37,265—one good full house—behind last year's total despite the double bills.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, bolstered by fine attendance in six "home" playing dates at Jersey City, are next to the Braves.

The only laggards in the attendance derby are the Chicago Cubs and New York Giants. The Cubs have totaled 489,352 and are more than 100,000 under the corresponding figures to date last year. The Giants have drawn 467,754 for 43 playing dates but might make up some of the deficit of more than 100,000 over the corresponding time for 1955 because they have more home games left than most clubs.

Police Halt Spree of Wrecking Firm Employee Showered with $100 Bills

NEW YORK (AP) — A weary wrecking company employee said Wednesday he always thought "finders were keepers" and that's why he roared out on a free-spending weekend to celebrate his finding of an unexpected treasure. Police, who informed Pearly Dickens, 40, about the law's view of such things, said they may never know the exact number of $100 bills that tumbled out of a smashed fireplace and cascaded about the feet of the amazed Dickens. But they estimated about $4,000 was hidden in the brickwork.

"I always thought finders were keepers," Dickens told police. He said he was helping demolish an abandoned house in Manhattan Friday and was prying some bricks from a fireplace "when down came all this money" in $100 bills. That ended the house-wrecking for the day and started the bigger and best party Dickens had ever seen. He said he ran out and bought $50 worth of whisky and beer and brought it back to the work site.

St. Louis at Chicago.

He estimated he started out with about $3,000 but said he gave some of it to fellow workers "who had missed out on all the money." Dickens still had about $2,300 left when he got home and gave it to his astounded wife, Mattie. His celebration continued until Tuesday when he returned to work—and to look for more money. But police entered the case Wednesday after the FBI received a telephone tip about Dickens' largesse. Officers informed Dickens and his fellow workers that the law requires the finder of property to turn it in to authorities within 10 days. If the lawful owner does not claim it within 90 days, the finder may claim it. Mrs. Dickens sadly brought the $2,300 to police headquarters in a cloth bag. Another worker turned in the $75 left of about $250 he had recovered.

Feels Even Better than He Looks!

Ever notice how a man looks when he takes the wheel of his new Cadillac and heads for his favorite highway?

Take a good look the next time you have a chance—and we think you'll see a happy man!

There's just no mistaking the pride and satisfaction that show in his face... or the happiness and contentment that reside in his heart.

And, as any experienced Cadillac owner can testify, he feels every bit as wonderful as he looks! For a journey in the "car of cars" is both a marvelous tonic for the spirit... and a wonderful opportunity for physical rest and relaxation.

It starts, in fact, the instant he slips into the driver's seat and rests his hands on the wheel. Those deep, soft cushions hold him in perfect comfort... and he is literally surrounded by beauty and luxury.

Even before he sets the car in motion, some of life's care and worry seem to go out of his day.

And then comes the miracle of Cadillac performance. It's an inspiration just to sit at the wheel... to look out over that graceful hood... and to watch the miles flow gracefully by.

And how easy it all is. Just a gesture of his hand on the steering wheel and the car follows effortlessly and obediently. Just a touch of his toe to the accelerator and the car answers instantly to the command. Just a nudge of his foot on the braking pedal and the car comes to a smooth, safe, silken stop.

Sound wonderful? Well, we sincerely urge you to come in at your first convenience—spend an hour at the wheel—and see for yourself.

We'll be happy to give you the keys... and the car... and some wonderful news about the cost and delivery advantages that you will enjoy if you make your decision for Cadillac today.
